INTRODUCTION

The National Archives of Australia in conjunction with the Repatriation Commission and the Department of Veterans' Affairs have developed this Records Authority to identify national archives created by the Commission and the Department relating to income support files of World War I veterans and records relating to the Boer War. Given the scarcity of these records and significance of their social and historical value, implementation of this Authority is recommended as a matter of priority.

This Authority gives the Repatriation Commission and the Department of Veterans' Affairs the permission, required under the Archives Act, for the disposal of records described. The Authority sets out those records that need to be retained as national archives. Retention periods are based on an assessment of business needs, broader organisational accountability requirements and community expectations.

The Repatriation Commission and the Department of Veterans' Affairs should use this authority to identify national archives as described in the classes of this authority and manage them appropriately pending transfer to the National Archives as soon as possible. The following tools can be used to dispose of the remaining records of the Commission and the Department:

- agency specific Records Authorities covering the Commission's and Department's agency specific records;
- general disposal authorities, such as the Administrative Functions Disposal Authority (AFDA); and
- normal administrative practice (NAP) which allows for the destruction of records where the records are duplicated, unimportant or for short-term use only.

As changes in circumstances may affect future recordkeeping requirements, the periodic review of this Authority is recommended. All amendments must be approved by the National Archives.

Advice on using this Authority and other recordkeeping matters is available from the National Archives' website at www.naa.gov.au or by contacting the Agency Service Centre at recordkeeping@naa.gov.au or (02) 6212 3610.
APPLICATION OF THIS AUTHORITY

1. This Authority applies to records already created by the Repatriation Commission and the Department of Veterans' Affairs as described in the classes of this Authority.

2. Disposal actions identified in this Authority supersede any related classes within other Records Authorities issued to the Repatriation Commission and the Department of Veterans' Affairs.

3. To mitigate any potential risk of the destruction of national archives identified in this Authority, it is recommended that this Authority be implemented and identified records transferred to the National Archives as a matter of priority.

4. Following implementation of this Authority, a combination of other agency specific authorities, general disposal authorities, such as the Administrative Functions Disposal Authority (AFDA) and appropriate use of normal administrative practice can be used to sentence the remaining records of the Department and the Commission.

5. This Authority is to be used to sentence records. Sentencing involves the examination of records in order to identify the individual disposal class to which they belong. This process enables sentencers to determine the appropriate disposal action for the records. Advice on sentencing is available from the National Archives.

6. From time to time the National Archives places ‘freezes’ on the disposal of some groups of records, which places a moratorium on the destruction of these records. If you require further information about disposal freezes and whether they affect the application of this Authority, please contact the National Archives.

7. Records in the care of the Repatriation Commission and the Department of Veterans' Affairs should be appropriately stored and preserved. The Commission and the Department needs to meet this obligation to ensure that the records remain authentic and accessible over time. Under section 31 of the Archives Act 1983, access arrangements are required for records that become available to the public after thirty years.

8. Appropriate arrangements should be made with the National Archives when records are to be transferred into custody. The National Archives accepts for transfer only those records designated as national archives.

9. Advice on how to use this Authority is available from the records manager of the Department of Veterans' Affairs. If there are problems with the application of the authority that cannot be resolved, please contact the National Archives.
