Customs shipping movement records for Sydney

The National Archives Sydney Office holds various record series documenting ships movements that can be used to identify when ships arrived at or departed from the port of Sydney. With this information the appropriate passenger list for the ship can be searched.

Passenger lists are arranged by the date, name of the ship, and the port of arrival or departure. Unless you know these details your search may be very time-consuming. Fact sheet 64 - Passenger records held in Sydney has more information.
